- PA’s unique Library Structure
- Local Library Boards are quasi-governmental
- Statutory Responsibilities:
  - Legal – Planning – Evaluation
- Commonwealth’s level of support is decreasing
- Your Library Board is Ill-Prepared to Lead Development (Fundraising)

The Library Progresses –
Friends: Slow to Change
- 1980-2000: From Conflict to Status Quo
- 2000-2010: Change Imposed through External Forces – the Friends Foundation is formed
- 2010-2012: Looking for an effective structure – Friends or Foundation?
- 2013: Strategic planning occurs - book sales persist but the lightbulb goes off

Strategic Planning 2013
- A new Mission Statement
- Articulated passion and rationale
- A tipping point: majority of Friends believe we must become relevant or why bother?
- Library leadership: endowment control a source of concern
- Staff perception “I’ll believe it when I see it.”

Mission 2013: Best Practices
New Mission Statement

- Inspire community involvement in Friends Foundation activities

Challenges and Opportunities
- Book sale has become a subset of Annual Fundraising Programs
- Number of sales limited in 2016 allowing time to focus on other strategies – fully supported by Library leadership
- “Book Sale Board” faction resistant to change
- Sale Liaison created – one voice

Challenges and Opportunities

- Need for more frequent meetings resulted in attrition
- New board members brought on who embrace who embrace change
- Increased work load on those working for change
- Inexperience/indifference is apparent
- Repositioning of “Book Sale Board Members” may/may not work

Friends Foundation and the Future

- Rebranding underway
- Recognition that change takes time but succession an issue
- New emphasis on relevance through community outreach
- New fundraising activities will take time to gel
- Continued focus on improving relationship with Library leadership

What’s ahead for 2016?

- Written commitment to annually allocate endowment investment income to Library special projects
- Collaborations with community organizations for a “Big Thing” in 2016
- Book Sales to become mini family festivals
- Membership solicitation and Friends cultivation
Why Should You Do It?

- Success!
- Significant Involvement
- An evolving and perpetual system for volunteer engagement
- Creating a robust corps of volunteers
- ...Because...volunteers make better donors!

Thank You!
